

Wesley Mission Melbourne

Research and Social Policy Unit

Research Officer

Wesley Mission Melbourne supports people who are disadvantaged to live meaningful lives by delivering effective services and working to create social systems that value and liberate.

We are looking to appoint a Research Officer

Situated within the Mission's Research and Social Policy Unit and working closely with managers and staff across the organisation, this new position will play a key role in the development of our research capability and response. The position focuses on undertaking research activities for advocacy and program development

The successful applicant will be able to demonstrate:

- Experience in designing and undertaking social science research, including publication/dissemination of outcomes
- Experience in analysing and interpreting social issues and social policy
- Experience in securing funding for research and development activities and developing and maintaining research partnerships
- A commitment to social advocacy and the values of justice, hope and compassion
- Ability to work in a complex organisational environment and across multi-disciplinary teams

Attractive remuneration with salary packaging available.

Applicants must submit a letter of application, along with a current resume. For a position description please go to Wesley Mission website: www.wesley.org.au.

Position queries to:

Susan Maye (03) 9666 1203

Email your application to: spollock@wesley.org.au

Applications close on 7th July 2008.

An Equal Opportunity Employer