

APS Women and Psychology Interest Group

presents

FAMILY VIOLENCE – Working with survivors and perpetrators

FACILITATORS: Carmel O'Brien and Peter Streker

WHEN: Wednesday 1 August 2018 – 6.30-8.00pm

WHERE: Live online

COST: Women & Psychology members $15; APS members $40; non-members $55
Students/unwaged $15

This webinar explains and explores the work with survivors and perpetrators of family violence

Carmel O'Brien will discuss issues in working therapeutically with survivors of family violence, particularly intimate partner abuse, including:

- Responding to disclosures – where to start and what to ask
- Safety assessment and planning
- Noticing the signs of recovery

Dr Peter Streker will talk about why working with perpetrators is different to traditional therapy, and cover topics including:

- Applying skeptical empathy and guarding against collusion
- Managing men who present as victim/survivors

Both presenters will include helpful tools and techniques.

There will also be opportunities during the live webinar to register questions for the presenters.

Register online at <https://www.psychology.org.au/Event/19805>

Contact person for enquiries and questions for the panel: Carmel O'Brien

Email: carmel@psychrespect.com