

WALKING WITH AFRICAN COMMUNITIES

towards Educational Excellence in Victoria

Join us for a discussion led by members of African Communities about their experiences within the education system and their positive contributions to Victoria.

Community leaders and parents from African communities will share their perspectives on current challenges and opportunities. Students will explore the reality of being a young African Australian. Bronwen Heathfield, Area Executive Director (Brimbank Melton) South Western Victoria Region will provide an overview of current initiatives in secondary Schools in the western suburbs that support and welcome African Australian students and their families

This participatory forum will provide members of African Australian communities, other educators, Community and educational psychologists, and professionals to find new ways of working together to foster educational excellence.
