

Curtin University

Artwork by Julianne Wade (lead artist) and the participants of the 2023 Indigenous Futures High School Challenge

the Country said No, so Now What?

Following the outcome of the Voice referendum, is it possible to achieve reconciliation?

We ask you to join us in ReconciliAction through participation in the Indigenous Futures ReconciliAction Challenge.

By participating, you'll have the chance to develop real solutions in response to the provocation 'The Country said No, so Now What?' The Challenge brings together students, academics, community and industry partners, and you will engage in learning activities and propose solutions.

This is an intensive, 25 credit unit in the mid-semester break, where you meet other students from across the university, be challenged, be bold, and understand your role in ReconciliAction.

Led by Associate Professor Mandy Downing, Dean, Indigenous Futures

WHO: most UG and PG students

WHEN: 30 June – 7 July 2025

WHERE: Building 418, Curtin University

Make tomorrow better.

curtin.edu.au